MISSIONS PRAYER MONTH TO BE OBSERVED
Church announces month of prayer dedicated to missions

Milledgeville, Georgia - January 25, 2019 – Leaders of Covenant Presbyterian Church, a small church bordering Georgia College and State University, announced today the church will launch a Missions Prayer campaign in February. The campaign will promote generational discipleship, discipleship in the local church and foreign and local missions.

“We decided to create a Missions Prayer campaign to show our church and community who we are supporting and to promote discipleship through missions,” Kreg Bryan, CPC head pastor said. “We invite everyone to join us in prayer as we pray for those who are working to see the Gospel advance.”

During the Missions Prayer Campaign, CPC will distribute a mission’s prayer booklet on Sunday, February 3, during the 11 a.m. worship service at CPC. The prayer booklet will feature prayer requests, financial support information, pictures and testimonies of the missionaries. Currently, CPC supports eight global missionaries and seven local missionaries. In addition to the missionaries, CPC also supports Campus Outreach, a local college ministry. Through Campus Outreach, CPC members foster opportunities with many area college students for generational discipleship and discipleship in the local church.

“We can’t wait to see how this month of prayer helps unite and promote missions through CPC. Campus Outreach is so thankful for CPC’s support and prayers,” Rebecca Shane, women’s coordinator for Campus Outreach said.

During the month of prayer, church visitors and members can expect to hear a mission’s moment every Sunday, which allows different missionaries to share about their work. Month of Prayer works to unite the congregation and missionaries in partnership as they pray over the work of the missionaries. “Although not all of us are called to full time missions we can stand beside our missionaries in prayer, as we steadfastly pray for them,” Kreg Bryan, CPC head pastor said.

Founded in 1981, Covenant Presbyterian Church, 460 North Columbia, is a reformed evangelical Presbyterian church located near Georgia College and State University. CPC was founded with a desire to serve the community through local, region and global outreach. CPC and its members currently work with about 50 college students who attend GCSU. Currently, CPC has a membership of about 65 from the greater Milledgeville community. The church’s goal is to teach others about the word of God and to emphasize the gospel’s good news of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ as well as disciple all those who visit or attend CPC.
